Efforts to establish the fact that the killing of Harry Stokes, attorney for the Nashville taxpayers, who was shot to death in his office Wednesday noon by opposing counsel, C. C. Trabue, was premeditated and that Attorney Trabue disposed of all of his bonds and property, making them over in his wife's name, was begun Saturday by the police. The disposition of his property is said to have occurred on the morning of the tragedy.

The next edition of the Kentuckian will be a double issue containing five pages of pictorial advertisements, similar to a feature conducted two years ago. The advertisements will contain the pictures of more than 80 business men, many of them new men in the business life of the city. The edition will be printed on book paper and will be one of the most attractive papers ever published in Hopkinsville. The advertisements will be given a second insertion Thursday May 11. Watch out for the big feature paper.

Illinois has wrested from Iowa the honor position of premier corn-producing state, North Dakota took Kansas' place as first wheat-producing state, Minnesota took from New York the first place as potato-producing state, Pennsylvania recaptured her place as first buck-wheat-producing state, which was taken from her by New York in 1914, and North Dakota took from California the banner for first barley-producing state, according to results of crop production last season. Kentucky holds her own as first in tobacco.

Wm. C. Sumpter, the new president of the T. P. A., is "little but loud." He is built very much along the lines of Ed Gaither and Mose Elb but he delivers the goods. His home paper, the Messenger, says of him: "Mr. Sumpter for ten years was president of the Bowling Green Business Men's Protective Association, and held this office until he resigned a few weeks ago. He made a splendid president, one who was attentive to his duties at all times and who used his best efforts in helping to make a better Bowling Green. He will use the same energy in serving as president of the T. P. A., and the selection of the association is a good one. The twenty-six delegates who left here on Friday morning went with the determination of seeing that Mr. Sumpter was given this high honor, which will be good news to the many friends of this popular Bowling Green, business man."

THE FIGHTING

In a Series of Small Operations Northwest of Verdun.

TURKS ARE REPULSED
Germans Score Minor Successes Against Russians—War Zone Is Quiet.

London, May 1.—The French and Germans on several sectors to the northwest of Verdun have been engaged in relatively heavy infantry fighting with the results evidently in favor of the French. To the north of Le Mort Homme, the French seized a German trench and captured fifty-three prisoners, and to the north of Cumieres made a similar stand in which thirty prisoners were taken. Berlin says that strong French attacks from Le Mort Homme to the northern part of the Caurettes woods were repulsed.

On the remainder of the French front, except for small infantry attacks, notably in the Vosges mountains and in the region of Lassigny, bombardments alone have been in progress. In fights in the air the French claim that their aviators have brought down four Fokkers and four other German aeroplanes, while Berlin says that in a fight over Verdun, a French machine was shot down.

GAINS OVER RUSSIANS.
In the region south of Marozz, the further success for the German arms against the Russians, the capture of four guns, one machine gun, eighty-three prisoners is reported by Berlin. Petrograd says the fighting in this region has diminished in intensity. On the remainder of the northern Russian lines there have been only artillery bombardments.

North of Mouravitz, in the Ikwa river region, the Austrians forced the Russians out of a trench but later the Russians in a counter attack, in which they inflicted heavy casualties, recaptured the trench and received the surrender of 600 Magyars, twenty-two of whom were officers. In the fighting the Russians admit the loss of four officers and 100 men.

TURKS ARE REPULSED.
The Turks in the vicinity of Diarbekr, Asiatic Turkey, took the offensive against the Russians but were repulsed.

In East Africa the British are continuing their successes against the Germans, having taken near Kondairangi munition convoys and a large number of cattle suitable for food.

CRAZY NEGRO
RUNS AMUCK

Baxter Porter Smashes Valuable Plate Glass Windows.

Baxter Porter, a negro porter for Sable Bros., ran amuck Saturday night and started by hurling a brickbat against the door of the police headquarters. Officers gave chase and Porter ran across the street and sent a brick through the plate glass window of Locker & Draper's office in the Hopper building. A few doors further another was thrown through M. D. Kelly's window, not only making a jagged opening in the window but wrecking a showcase inside the jewelry store. He then swerved across to Barnes & Metcalfe's and broke one of their windows, this loss falling on Mrs. E. G. Peterson. Still running, his next shot was at the Waller & Trice building, corner of Eighth, owned by Jno. B. Trice. One of their big glasses was shattered. At the corner of Ninth he ran into a crowd, who held him until the police came up. Yesterday Porter was sent to the Western Hospital for the insane.

SUMPTER NEW PRESIDENT

T. P. A. Convention Completed Pleasant and Profitable Session.

Bowling Green Got the Next Convention in April 1917.

After a sumptuous dinner at the Club House of the Hopkinsville Hunting and Fishing Club, the T. P. A. delegates returned Saturday at 4 o'clock to the Avalon, and elected officers as follows: President, W. C. Sumpter, Bowling Green; secretary and treasurer, Carl H. Finck, of Louisville; first vice president, Garner E. Dalton, Hopkinsville; second vice president, Nick Bosler, of Louisville; third vice president, Milton Sanchez, of Lexington; fourth vice president, George Cobb, of Paducah; fifth vice president, E. C. Selle, of Henderson. The Board of Directors was elected, as follows: E. F. Brandon, of Paducah; A. L. Harris, of Glasgow; John T. Elom, of Henderson; Jake Blum, E. O. Talcott and H. P. Rhorer, of Louisville; X. Wilson, of Mayfield; C. S. Darnly, of Lexington; Phil Doll, of Owensboro; E. L. Kerley, of Bowling Green; F. K. Yost, of Hopkinsville. Rev. W. N. Briney, of Louisville, was re-elected chaplain.

The following were chosen delegates to the National Convention: E. L. Kerley, Fred C. Hessmon, C. H. Hugger, Ben Bruner, Nick Bosler, H. P. Rhorer, C. W. Milliken, W. W. Tarpley, John T. Elom, X. Wilson, Archie Higgins and W. N. Briney.

Bowling Green was selected as the next place of the annual meeting.

Quite a little contest came up over the endorsement of a member of the association for appointment by Gov. Stanley to the position of Hotel Inspector. J. W. Robertson, of Christian, and J. W. Gudgel, of Shelby, were the candidates, and after some stirring speeches for both aspirants, a resolution was adopted endorsing both of them as capable men.

MR. GARY'S SPEECH.

As stated in Saturday's paper, the formal welcome was delivered Friday night at the Avalon by Mr. Geo. E. Gary. His speech was a decided hit and favorable comments were heard on all sides of Mr. Gary's success in a new line of oratory.

His address was in a lighter vein and contained many good hits and spicy references to prominent T. P. A. As. His eulogium on Hopkinsville intensely pleased the big contingent of local people present. The speech was one of the orator's very best efforts as a public speaker.

Mr. C. W. Milliken, of Louisville, in his witty response raised a big laugh at Mr. Gary's expense by charging him with still owing him a quarter for carrying the important note that resulted in the speaker's eloquent at Bowling Green when Mr. Milliken was a small boy. He expressed himself as willing to let the pleasure he had received from listening to Mr. Gary's eloquence square the account.

Mr. Gary's excuse was that in his haste to make a safe get-away he forgot to pay the boy, who had been overpaid on many previous occasions.

Other good speeches were made by Geo. V. Steffens, of St. Louis, and J. R. Bass, of Nashville, both members of the national board.

The proceedings were interrupted by Jake Blum, of Louisville, who arose and in a very appropriate speech presented Tom Metcalfe with a gold watch chain in return for his floral favors and other courtesies too numerous to mention. Mr. Metcalfe accepted the gift in a few words of thanks.

The theatre party Friday night was a popular feature of the entertainment. A dance at the hotel concluded the night program.

IRISH REVOLT IS NOW ENDED

Loss From Fire In Dublin Totaled More Than $10,000,000.

CAPTURE WOMAN LEADER
Government Reports Number Of Its Casualties At 32.

The Irish rebels in Dublin are surrendering and messages have been sent out to the country districts advising the revolutionists there to do likewise, according to the official statement made in London Sunday night. The situation in Dublin itself is said to be much improved, and the rebels have surrendered in large numbers in the Sackville-street, post-office and Four Courts districts. The capture of 707 prisoners, including the Countess Markievicz, a prominent Sinn Fein leader is announced. At the same time the British war office reports the casualties among British officers in Irish rioting to have been thirty-two. The loss from fire in Dublin, which could not be stopped by the firemen while the sniping was in progress, is said to have totaled more than $10,000,000 and to have been suffered principally on Sackville street, where the majority of the city's largest business establishments are located.

The proclamation issued yesterday by "Provisional President," Pearce, advising the surrender of all of the rebels, follows:

"In order to prevent the further slaughter of unarmed people, and in the hope of saving the lives of our followers, who are surrounded and hopelessly outnumbered, the members of the provisional government at headquarters have agreed to unconditional surrender, and the commanders of all the units of the republican forces will order their followers to lay down their arms." ## SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report of Carl H. Finck, state secretary, which was given Saturday morning, showed the Kentucky division of the T. P. A. to be in the healthiest condition in its history. The membership a year ago was 1,509, and nine members have been lost by death. Today there are 1,561 members, with 32 applications pending in St. Louis, all of which are expected to be admitted, making a total of 1,593, the largest ever known in the state.

Of the individual writers of applications, E. F. Brandon, of Paducah, heads the list with forty-three members secured.

Claims paid by the national office to Kentucky members during the year amounted to $6,134.53. The receipts by the national office from Kentucky for the fiscal year amounted to $13,061.60, there being 72 claims paid. During the year only 8 claims were rejected from this state, these being on the grounds that the claims did not constitute a proper claim under the constitution of the organization.

The various local posts in the state and their membership at present are as follows: Post A, at Paducah, 217; Post B, at Glasgow, 21; Post C, at Henderson, 74; Post D, at Louisville, 762; Post E, at Mayfield, 66; Post F, at Lexington, 71; Post G, at Owensboro, 88; Post I, at Bowling Green, 140; Post J, at Hopkinsville, 122, with 25 applications pending, making total of 147.

Harry Stokes.

Great excitement prevails in Nashville to-day over the killing of one of its most prominent sons, Harry Stokes, who, in the famous municipal scandal made his name a household word, and whose efficiency won for him a national notice. His name was used as a probable candidate for Governor of Tennessee. He was a man among men, a worker in the hive, a doer of things, an exposé of graft and an uncoverer of crookedness and scandal. He was the idol of the masses, because he was the friend of the masses, and their champion. His fight against corruption and corrupt practices in Nashville was remarkable. Almost alone he stood, defying the powers that be. His fight was one that will go down on the pages of Nashville's history as the beginning of a new era. And now he is dead, but his work still lives, and will be a monument to his memory more lasting than marble or bronze. In the death of Harry Stokes Nashville sustained a great loss and Tennessee mourns.—Leaf Chronicle.

A compilation by the Interstate Commerce commission examiners at Nashville showed that 22,800 free passes with a cash value of $226,000 were issued by the Louisville & Nashville and the Nashville & St. Louis railroads in 1913, most of them at the request of members of the Tennessee and Kentucky legislatures, in the records of the commission's investigation. At the night session it was brought out that railroad commissioners of Alabama, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi, the railroad and warehouse commissioners of Illinois and the inspectors for the railroad commission of Indiana were included in the free list of the Louisville & Nashville.

Mrs. May Davies Hopkins, who has brought suit for $75,000 against the Cunard Steamship Company for the death of her husband on the Lusitania, denies that German agents had influenced her in bringing the suit against the British company.

Annie Stevens, a gypsy girl, 14 years old, was placed in the Convent of the Good Shepherd Louisville, by the Juvenile Court at her own request to escape married life, into which, she said, her father had sold her for $1,200.

Predictions were made by two members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, one of them a Democrat, that an unfavorable report would be made on the nomination of Louis D. Brandies for the United States Supreme Court.

Another column of cavalry four miles long entered Mexico Friday, in spite of Carranza's request that the forces already there be withdrawn. Uncle Sam proposes to keep his powder dry while talking peace with the greasers.

Three means of furthering Christian religion in heathen countries, through education, commerce and political relations, were outlined at the national congress of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Washington.

The British battleship Russell has been sunk by a mine in the Mediterranean. Admiral Fremantle, the captain of the vessel and 700 other officers and men were saved, while 124 men are missing.

SECURE YELLOW-YOLKED EGG
Poultry Department of Iowa State College Tells Secret—Feed Corn With Clipped Alfalfa.

Eggs with a richly colored golden yolk, from a market standpoint, are more desirable than the pale-yolked variety. Due to lack of green range feed in the winter, such eggs are not normally laid during cold weather. To produce them, though, is quite a simple matter if you know how. The poultry department of the Iowa State college tells the secret.

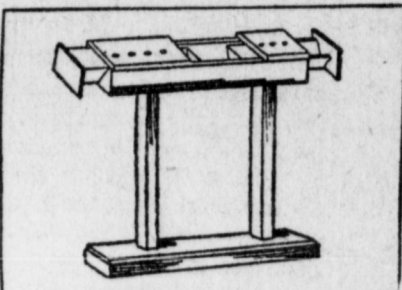

Yellow corn with clipped alfalfa or sprouted oats are winter feeds that put the color in the yolk. Steamy alfalfa will not do, as it is too coarse and contains too much fiber. The alfalfa must be leafy. Alfalfa or clover sweepings from the hay mow make an excellent winter poultry feed. To keep the hens from scratching it about a rack or box may be provided, covered with coarse mesh poultry wire through which the birds may pick the leaves.

The fact that green feeds produce the desirable yellow-yolked eggs is an advantage of only secondary importance. The fact that they furnish food elements not to be had otherwise, and that are very much needed at this season of the year, is of far greater importance. The green feed is a necessary item to stimulate the general health of the fowls, as well as their laying ability, during the winter.

GATHERING UP ALL VERMIN

Trap Shown in Illustration Which Is Part of Perch on Which Birds Roost at Night.

Chickens are very subject to several kinds of vermin, which must be kept down in a measure, or they get so numerous that the birds' peace of mind is so greatly disturbed that it interferes with the bird's egg-laying propensities. A new invention is shown herewith by which it is designed to keep down the numbers of the pest by catching them in a trap, which is combined with the roost on which the birds sleep. The habits of the chicken lice and other pests of this character is to get at the birds while they are roosting, and they attack the birds in such numbers that its health is seriously interfered with. After sucking the bird's blood the insects return to the crevices to be found in the wood.

Trap for Chicken Lice.

work about the perch, so as to be ready for subsequent visits. The features of the new trap is that it enters into the construction of the perch. There are holes along the length of the perch which make inviting harboring places for the vermin; but when they enter these they are overcome by the fumes of a germicide contained in trays, which are disposed of within the interior of the perch. For convenience in cleaning these trays may be withdrawn from the ends without disturbing the perch.

REMEDY FOR A BUMBLE FOOT

Trouble Often Caused by High Roosts or Frozen Ground—Simple Treatment Is Recommended.

Bumble foot is caused by a bruise. This may come from frozen ground, or from flying down from a height to a hard-surfaced floor. Often roosts are entirely too high, and the force with which the bird strikes the ground injures the foot.

Whenever a bird is seen to be limping, examine the bottom of the foot. If there is pus, make a cross on the sole of the foot, disinfect with any household disinfectant, and apply a soothing ointment. Bandage well, and put the bird in a coop on soft litter.

Fowls Need Plenty of Air.

Do not be afraid to give your birds plenty of air during the cold months. Open the doors and windows wide on sunny days, but be sure to shut them up again before the sun goes down.

Leaky Roofs Cause Trouble. Does your henhouse leak when it rains or the snow melts? Many winter poultry troubles are caused by leaky roofs.

Keep After the Vermin. It pays to fight lice winter and summer. If you don't see them, just imagine they are around and keep after them.

Take Care of Fowls. Better have fewer fowls and take care of them properly, than many and neglect them.

QUALITIES OF THE LEGHORNS

Birds Are So Active That They Maintain Good Appetite—Easily Kept in Good Health.

Leghorns are so active that they maintain a good appetite and will stand the heavy feeding necessary to heavy egg production. Eggs cannot be made without feed. The laying flock is easily kept in health by an occasional cleaning medication, and there is nothing happier than a big flock of Leghorn layers, as their continual "singing" makes evident.

I trust I have said nothing to hurt the feelings of those who favor other breeds, says a writer in an exchange.

Flock of White Leghorns.

All the standard fowls have their merits, and for a door-yard flock I would choose one of the heavy breeds. A Leghorn chick can be brought to a broiler size in a hurry, but the gain in weight is not so rapid beyond that stage.

I have known pure-bred Leghorns not to average four dozen eggs a year, so there is no safety in mere name. It's the breeding that counts, and Leghorns can be brought to very high egg-production and held to it. Do not carelessly interbreed strains. Find a good one and hold to it.

FIND THE QUALITY OF EGGS

Cornell Agricultural Experiment Station Recommends Candling as the Best Method.

The quality of eggs depends not altogether upon the length of time they have been kept, but quite as much upon the conditions to which they have been subjected between the time of laying and of their final use. Moreover, the quality of an egg may be affected to some extent by the foods eaten by the hen which lays it, and possibly by the season of the year when it is laid.

All these points and many others are discussed in a bulletin on the interior quality of market eggs, issued by the Cornell agricultural experiment station, which explains the process of egg production and the structure of the normal egg. It tells also how the interior quality of market eggs may be studied and advocates candling as the best method. It gives directions for candling and instructions for making candling devices.

FEED GREEN FOOD AND GRIT

Almost Anything Succulent Will Answer Purpose—Variety Is Desirable During Winter Months.

It is important that some kind of green food should be supplied when the hens are confined. Almost anything succulent will serve the purpose. It is not desirable to depend entirely on clover and alfalfa in winter. Cabbage, rape, mangels, potatoes, turnips, or even ensilage should be provided for variety.

Little attention need be given to supplying the hens with grit while on the range. In winter or when in confinement, grit in some form should be supplied. Lime is also needed for shell material. For this purpose oyster shell is excellent.

Storing Eggs for Hatching.

In storing eggs for hatching, avoid too low or too high temperatures. About 45 degrees is the best temperature. Then avoid too much handling. We have strong doubts about the advantage of turning them while in storage. Any advantage in it is, we think offset by the risk of soiling the eggs and closing the air-pores.

Waste and Injury. A surplus of foodstuff fed to a fowl, or an animal of any kind, above that digestible and convertible to its needs is a waste of food and an injury.

Keep Hen in Laying Trim. It is just as important to keep a hen in laying trim as it is to coax the dairy cow to keep up her flow of milk.

Old Geese Most Reliable. Old geese lay a greater number of larger eggs and are more reliable than young geese.

Manure Is Valuable Asset. The poultry manure is a valuable asset. The most satisfactory way of using it is in barrels.

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

GOOD ROADS

PRAISE FOR AMERICAN ROADS

Compare Very Favorably With Highways of Many European Countries—Much Work in Progress.

"We Americans are prone to over-estimate and sometimes to boast of that which we have," says J. M. Linscott, New England agent for a large motor car company. "At least that is the accusation made by our European cousins. I sometimes wonder if it is just. I wonder if we do not more often underestimate our possessions and our achievements. We really are a wonderful country, you know, and with full allowance for our shortcomings, a wonderful people, too. So I rather think we are justified in some of our boastfulness. It is an attribute of youth, and evidence of a good healthy youthful enthusiasm.

"Apropos of what?" you ask. "Well, of roads, for example.

"We are accustomed to saying that we have the worst roads in the world, and to hold up as an example of model roads the centuries-old highways of Europe.

"I have found in talking with Americans who have toured abroad that most of them will give as examples of model highways a few main traveled roads. But ask them about the general roads of any country and they will either tell you they do not know, or if perchance one has happened to lose his way and got on to one of the byways, he will admit that they are about as bad as has ever been seen in Michigan or Nebraska.

"Your traveled American will expatiate at great length on the wonderful roads of France. And they are wonderful. That is to say, some of them are. At that the total mileage of really good roads in that country is much less than most people imagine. We journeyed over cobblestone roads that would shake your teeth loose—and that in romantic Normandy, too.

"The roads in the British isles are excellent, but after all New England has more, and they are just as good, despite the climatic conditions that favor the former. The Rhine route in Germany is all that has been claimed for it, but we have our roads up the Hudson to match it—and who shall say whether the scenery on the Rhine or the Hudson is more beautiful, since both are magnificent beyond description?

"The Texas road is made of crushed sea shells, which make a perfect surface, while the Italian road is composed of powdered marble from the great quarries of Carrara. Anyone who has traveled over this well known road will not return that way because its beauty is deceptive. The gritty particles of marble will cut the tread off a set of tires in one trip.

"I wonder how many people realize the influence of climate on roads? I wonder how many of those who rave over the fact that the Appian Way is still in tolerable condition after more than two thousand years, have stopped to consider how long that same highway would last in Michigan, for example? The alternate freezing and thawing and heaving would disintegrate and cause it to wear away just as fast as they do our own macadam and cement construction.

"How many of those appreciate how much road-building is going on not only in their own immediate neighborhood but throughout this country.

"How many know that Michigan will build 800 miles of wonderfully good roads; that Indiana will build fully 600 miles of roads, and she already has 1,000 miles of excellent highways, which she is keeping in the pink of condition. Ohio will build fully 140 miles of roads. Some of the eastern Atlantic states—Massachusetts, Maine, New York, Pennsylvania—have thousands of miles of roads that are as fine as anything that lies under the sun. And these states are building more all the time."

Concrete Road Costly. It costs about $13,000 to build a mile of good concrete road. This makes a road everlasting, without dust, very few repairs, and good in all kinds of weather.

Stone Houses Are Cheap. Stone houses last much longer than wood, require no paint, therefore are much cheaper in the end.

Who Is Responsible? Who is responsible for the bad condition of the roads?

FATHER DEAD, SON IS DYING

Son of Nortonville Marshal Shoots Two Who Attack Father With Shot Gun.

Madisonville, Ky., Apr. 30.—Charlie Long, about 45 years of age, is dead and his son, Bayliss Long, is seriously wounded as the result of an attempt to beat-up Marshal Woodard at Nortonville, this county, last night, when the officer was summoned to arrest the two men who were creating a disturbance in the little village. Tom Woodard, son of the marshal, did the shooting.

According to information received here of the tragedy, Long and his son, who were both drinking, stopped at the home of Will Denton and proceeded to start trouble. The two men are said to have smashed out the window lights, entered the home, secured a shotgun and started to beat Denton over the head with beer bottles. Denton escaped and summoned Marshal Woodard. The officer called G. Winters, and as they approached Long and his son, the latter, who had the shotgun, leveled it at the marshal. Winters grabbed the gun as the hammer fell, catching his finger and preventing the discharge.

A fight was then started and the Longs were beating the marshal over the head when Tom Woodard, the son, appeared on the scene. He opened fire, shooting Charlie Long through the head, death resulting this morning. Bayliss Long was shot

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

through the jaw, the bullet coming out back of the neck. He was also shot in the hand. His wounds are regarded as serious. Woodard surrendered and came here. It could not be ascertained why the Longs had attacked the Denton home. Tom Woodard claims he shot to save his father's life, as the two men had inflicted several wounds. Young Woodard shot and killed Roy Blanks at Nortonville several years ago.

Five murders have been committed in this county since the last term of court and will come up for trial at the term which begins here Monday.

A New York Scandal.

The blasé inhabitants of New York are looking forward with much interest to the trial of the suit brought against Arthur Hoe, son of the late millionaire, Robert Hoe, by Miss Mae Sullivan, a beautiful girl 21 years old, whom Hoe maintained as his wife in a fashionable Riverside apartment.

Miss Sullivan, who is now fighting for life in a Chicago hospital, promises some revelations which, it is said, will rival those made concerning the late Stanford White. Miss Sullivan declares that she was accosted by Hoe one day as she was leaving school. He walked several blocks with her, and met her again the next day. When he left he pressed a thousand dollars into her hand. The natural result followed.

Three weeks later, when her aunt, with whom she lived, passed away, Hoe installed her in an apartment and gave her a thousand dollars a month. Every luxury was showered upon her. She had diamonds valued at $50,000.

As suddenly as it came, however, her new found wealth ceased and she was ousted from the Riverside home. Powerful influences were brought to induce her to leave New York, but the fighting blood of her ancestors was aroused.

And she declares that she would not dismiss her suit for a million dollars. She asserts her purpose is to show up Hoe and save other girls who might be led into similar traps.—Gleaner.

CLARKSVILLE BIT THE DUST

Local High School Won In Hard Fought Game 7 to 4.

The game Saturday between Hopkinsville and Clarksville turned out just as the Hopkinsville fans had hoped for. High School won by the score of 7 to 4. Quite a large crowd was out to cheer the home team on to victory.

As usual, Clarksville started off as though victory for them was assured, but before long the locals took the lead and maintained it throughout the balance of the contest.

Wiley was on the box for Clarksville. He pitched good ball, but several times he weakened and enough runs were made to win.

Higgins worked for High School. He pitched a good steady game of ball and in pinches he was quite to the Clarksville bunch.

The lineups of the two teams were as follows:

H. H. S.	C. H. S.
Roberts, 2nd b.	Quarles, c.
Brown, 3rd b.	Lapsley, s. s.
Espie, 1. f.	Hightower, 1. f.

Oldham, c. f.	Devitt, 3rd b.
Lackey, c. f.	Robinson, c. f.

The Score.

C. H. S.—Wiley and Quarles.

Next Saturday Princeton High School will play the local High School bunch at Mercer's. The same support that was given in last Saturday's game is hoped for in the coming contest.

Grey Eagle.

J. K. Bunch, son of King Bunch, killed a grey eagle Monday afternoon near Acme Mills, in the Salmons country, which measured seven feet from tip to tip. The specimen is one rarely seen in this section. Young Bunch sold his eagleship to Gene Morris, who presented it to a friend at Bowling Green.—Franklin Favorite.

Church Growth.

Everybody's Magazine gives some interesting church statistics:

The churches of the United States did not gain so many new members during the year of 1915 as during the year previous. In that year—1914—they gained 782,000. In 1915 they gained only 653,000.

Last year there were just seven great churches which had reached a membership of more than 1,000,000, as follows:

Roman Catholic, partly by immigration, 14,079,000; Methodist, 16 bodies put together, 7,472,000; Baptist, 15 bodies, 6,307,000; Lutherans, 21 bodies, partly by immigration, 2,434,000; Disciples of Christ, 2 bodies, 1,522,000, and Episcopalian, 1,051,000.

The Quakers are known to every man, woman and child. Yet they number only 120,000.

The Christian Scientists get enormous attention from the whole world in print and in conversation. Yet their last statement of membership was only 85,000.

The Unitarians are an intellectual avalanche which Billy Sunday is holding back with his own shoulders from falling upon and shattering the Christian community. Yet, in the whole United States, the total number of Unitarians seems to be 70,542.

The Amenities of War.

The following is vouched for by M. Millerand, former French minister of war. A French scout came suddenly one day upon a German scout. The German was standing by his dying horse. "Why do you not shoot it?" inquired the Frenchman. "I have no pistol," replied the other. But the Frenchman drew his gun and was about to shoot the horse when he said: "But you would sooner shoot your own horse," and handed the weapon to the German, who gravely bowed, shot his horse and returned the pistol, and then gave himself up as a prisoner.—London Daily News.

USE UP MUCH BRASS LEAF

Natives of Southern India Employ It for a Peculiar Form of Decoration.

One of the most interesting uses to which brass leaf is applied in southern India is for gilding limes, the decorated fruit, according to a local custom, being exchanged by natives on festival occasions in token of esteem. The origin of this practice is apparently unknown, but it dates from a distant period and is a recognized feature of Indian life. The exchange of limes takes place on New Year's days, of which there are several in this country. Besides the English anniversary observed by the natives, the Mohammedans and the Tamil and Teluga branches of the Hindus have special New Year's days. A native calling on New Year's day on a person to whom he or she desires to show esteem presents the host with a lime. In the case of the well-to-do the lime is always ornamented with brass leaf or, in a few cases, with gold leaf. The poorer classes, as a rule, give undecorated limes. The custom sometimes extends also to the ordinary "tamash" or social reunion. Thus a good deal of brass leaf is used for gilded limes and the bazaar trade in this line throughout southern India is really considerable. The leaf is also used to some extent in the manufacture of gilded caps or "topi," worn generally by Mohammedans in southern India on their holidays and for decorations on the dresses of Mohammedan women.

TWO COTTAGES ARE DESTROYED

By Sunday Afternoon Blaze Which Occurred on East 19th Street.

Fire about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon destroyed two cottages on East 19th street. The flames originated on the roof of a building belonging to Mrs. J. P. Thomas and rapidly spread to a cottage owned by Mr. R. F. Rives, of near Casky, both buildings being reduced to ashes in a few minutes, despite the efforts of the fire department. When the fire was discovered the entire roof of Mrs. Thomas' building was ablaze. A stiff breeze was blowing and the fire department experienced great difficulty in confining the flames to the two cottages.

Mr. Rives' building was unoccupied. His loss is about $300, partially covered by insurance. Mrs. Thomas' loss is about the same amount and is covered by insurance.

MANAGER IS SIGNED

Kitty Bunch To Be Looked After By Daddy Coleman.

Baseball talk is now getting on the front page, and the Kitty season will open May 23.

James E. Coleman, former pitcher and first baseman, and for a time manager of Clarksville team in the old Kitty league, has been signed as manager of the Hopkinsville team.

A number of ambitious youngsters who have made good showings by their past work have also been signed here.

Clyde Goodwin will pitch and act as manager for Dawson. Connie Walsh is Henderson's manager and will bring a team from St. Louis. Henry Witzel, of Columbus, heads the Owensboro team. Clarksville and Madisonville haven't yet named their managers.

Most of the players will report for tryouts May 10. The highest salary is $50 a month.

The season will open on May 23 with Hopkinsville playing at Clarksville, Henderson at Owensboro and Dawson Springs at Madisonville. The schedule has been prepared and will be published early next week.

To Keep Pianos From Catching Cold.

Halt the pianos of this country catch winter colds exactly as we do. They get hoarse or have a cough or a stiff note or some similar complaint, which cannot be cured by home remedies, but which requires tedious and expensive doctoring. In order to prevent these avoidable ailments a piano should be kept in a moderately warm room, where the temperature is even, say 60 or 70 degrees, the year round—not cold one day and hot the next. The instrument should not, however, be too near the source of heat. It should be kept closed and covered with a felt cloth when not in use, particularly in frosty weather. Always place the piano against an inside wall and a little out from it.—Irish World.

When Lotteries Were in Vogue.

Not only did our first president endorse the lottery business as a public enterprise, but he was a private boomer. Jefferson, about this time, became interested in the lottery idea and he and Washington became promoters of a personal lottery scheme. Col. William Byrd was the mutual friend of both Washington and Jefferson. He became involved in debt and his famous Westover estate had to be sold. All of Colonel Byrd's friends took tickets in "Colonel Byrd's lottery" and he was enabled to pay all his debts. "Without the lottery," Mr. Jefferson said, "the lands would have sold at from one-half to one-quarter of their value, and the creditors would have lost the greater part of their claims."

WHEEL MAKES LITTLE NOISE

Recent Invention Practically Eliminates Racket That Has Long Been Complained Of.

A silent car wheel has been designed by Edwin C. Madden, formerly assistant postmaster general, which is asserted to have a number of important advantages over the old-fashioned wheel. It is said to consist of two wheels, one within the other, and separated from each other by means of a rubber filling, and the combination is said to take up all vibration and shock, so that the noise is reduced to almost nothing. Some of these wheels have been in use on a trolley line at Portland, Me., for nearly a year, and the degree of success which has attended their use has resulted in declaring the invention a success, and a factory is now being reared where their manufacture on a large scale will be engaged in. Not only is the noise eliminated, but the riding qualities of the car are greatly improved and the life of the rolling stock prolonged. The tires and cushions are renewed easily and economically, and the life of the wheel itself is far longer than that of the ordinary cast wheel.

THIRSTY AUTO IN SALOON

Dashes Through Swinging Doors Without the Least Ceremony, and Objects to Leaving.

Losing control of the machine he was driving Edward Frisby, nineteen years old, of South Colorado street, hung on to the steering wheel while the car made a mad dash into a saloon on the corner of Broad and Porter streets. Men who were standing at the bar scattered in all directions as the auto crashed through the door, but no one was injured.

Frisby was arrested. He told the district detectives he lost control of the car and was unable to check it as it dashed through the doors of the saloon. It was with difficulty that the automobile was dragged from its wedged position in the place. The front of the saloon was badly damaged.—Philadelphia Record.

HOW GERMANS USE ALUMINUM.

Austria and Germany use more aluminum for war purposes than all the other warring nations combined. It has been known, in fact, that Germany has for some years been collecting and storing the metal for war uses.

The great majority of the drinking mugs, cans and cups of the German soldier are made of the light metal. The frames for Zeppelins and the fuses for shells are made from aluminum.

One of the difficulties the Germans have had to face is the shortage of copper necessary for the rings round shells. Many of the German shells are now provided with aluminum rings.

Although aluminum does make a substitute, even in cartridges as well as shells and fuses, it is not so good as copper. The French authorities experimented with it some years ago for artillery purposes, but rejected it. The Germans are using it in such large quantities because of the shortage of copper.—Pearson's Weekly.

CAN'T FIND HERMIT'S HEIRS

Centric English Landowner Died, Leaving Large Fortune and No Will.

Romance surrounds the search now being made for the heir of a Swadlincote man named John William Wilson, who died intestate two years ago, leaving a big fortune, the London Chronicle states.

Wilson was the last member of a family which settled at Swadlincote when it was a small village, whereas now it is an important pottery and mining center.

From his mother, who died many years ago, he inherited a large amount of land, including the main street of what is now the town of Swadlincote.

With the growth of the town this land became of great value, and as shops, banks and houses sprang up, Mr. Wilson sold sites at large figures and amassed a fortune.

He retained a large tract of ground in the center of the town, which for many years has been let to showmen and others, who visit the town in great numbers.

Despite his wealth and the large and intricate business dealings which it entailed, Wilson could neither read nor write; and with an equally eccentric brother and sister, he lived in a two-roomed cottage, lighted at night by only a candle. The three lived an almost hermitlike existence. Except for a tramcar ride to Burton-on-Trent, they seldom went outside the house.

A Good Family Cough Syrup.

Can be made by mixing Pine-Tar, Aconite, Sugar, Hyoscyamus, Sassafras, Peppermint, Licorice, Rhubarb, Ma-drake, Capsicum Muriate Ammonia, Honey and Glycerine. It is pleasant, healing and soothing, raises the phlegm, and gives almost instant relief. For convenience of those who prefer not to fuss, it is supplied ready made in 25c. bottles under name of Dr. Bell's Pine Tar-Honey. Can be had at your druggist. I sit on getting Dr. Bell's Pine Tar-Honey and see that the formula is on the package.—Advertisement

Characteristics of Twins.

Ordinary twins usually resemble each other markedly. It is the identical twins (among the rarest of human phenomena) who can hardly be "told apart." But the most remarkable thing about them is the close moral sympathy that usually exists between them—a sympathy so intense that (unless a vast amount of seemingly reliable testimony on the subject be deemed unworthy of belief) one of them may even receive a subconscious impression of an untoward happening to the other, though a great distance separates them at the time.

Rheumatic Pain Stopped.

The drawing of muscles, soreness, stiffness and agonizing pain of Rheumatism quickly yield to Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the painful part. Just apply as directed to the sore spots. In a short time the pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth. Here's proof—"I have had wonderful relief since I used your Liniment on my knee. To think one application gave me relief. Sorry I haven't space to tell you the history. Thank you for what your remedy has done for me."—James S. Ferguson, Philada., Pa. Sloan's Liniment kills pain 25c at Druggists.—Advertisement.

Cardui I am sure, saved my life." Cardui is today used in thousands of homes, where it relieves pain and brings back strength and ambition. It is a woman's medicine, for woman's ailments, and you are urged to try it for your troubles. Ask your druggist. He will tell you about Cardui.—Advertisement met.

Avoid Spring Colds.

Its already prepared, no mixing or fussing. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. Tested and tried for over 40 years.—Advertisement.

Telephone Far From Piano.

One important point about musical good housekeeping: Keep the telephone as far as possible from the music room. ### AWAIT THE AWAKENING PICK Large Deposits of Anthracite in Eastern States That Have Never Been Opened Up.

A large field of anthracite in Rhode Island and southeastern Massachusetts is still unworked, although known as long ago as 1760, and existing so close to New England's great industries. Many attempts at mining have been soon abandoned. Investigating for the geological survey, George H. Ashley has found that the coal beds have been folded and compressed more than even those of Pennsylvania, and the coal has been broken up, and chiefly squeezed into great pockets, with much admixture of rock in places, and the conversion of much carbon into graphite. Besides giving a varying quality, these conditions make the net cost of mining greater than in Pennsylvania. The causes for the apparent failure to mine profitably seem to be (1) improper preparation of the coal at the mine; (2) attempted use in furnaces and with apparatus designed for dissimilar coals; (3) low duty per dollar of cost as compared with competing coals, and (4) stock jobbing. In general, the coal contains two to six times as much moisture as Pennsylvania coal, with two to three times as much ash—the moisture making necessary special drying under cover. The conclusion is that a unique opportunity is offered for electrical generation at mines near to industrial centers.

VERY MUCH ON HIS DIGNITY

Youthful Military Officer Declined to Be Impressed by Example of Commander in Chief.

This story comes from South Africa, and concerns a young and painfully keen lieutenant of the Rand Light Infantry, who, when he discovered one of his men smoking, said: "What do you mean by smoking on duty?"

"But I'm not on duty, sir. I've just come off guard, an'—"

"Don't you bandy words with me, my man! I'll have you to know."

"Wy, sir!"—this from the culprit faintly—"even Lord Kitchener, sir, lets his men smoke when they're not on duty, sir!"

"Lord Kitchener! Lord Kitchener! Look here, my man"—this with a wave of the hand and that sternness of which only the very, very young military officer is capable, "Look here, my man—and, hang it! Stand to attention when I'm talking to you. I'll have you to know that you're not dealing with Lord Kitchener now. You're dealing with me!"

NO RACE SUICIDE HERE.

To Mrs. Emma Moules of Wood Green, London, belongs the wonderful record of having reared a family of 68 children, 23 of whom were her own, 17 her second husband's and the remainder nurse children. She is seventy-four years of age and is still able to do her hard day's work and can read the paper without glasses.

Her own 23 children grew up and many married. Seventy children have been born to five daughters, one accounting for 18, two for 14 each and two for 12 each.

She has 11 great-grandchildren. Two grandsons, a son-in-law (a father of 12) are in the army at present.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

NOW IT'S THE GROCETERIA

Hard to Tell Where the New Business Idea Is Finally Going to Have an End.

What does the "cafeteria" grocery forecast? Cafeteria everything else?
In the Santa Monica bay district, near Los Angeles, you go into a "groceteria," fill your basket with what you find you need, then proceed to the cashier's desk and have your purchases checked up. The cashier is the only one who "tends store," and all the groceries are laid out within reach of the purchasers and labeled with the price.

The gradual development of the system of putting nearly every kind of groceries in tins, cartons, bottles and crates must have led to the evolution of the groceteria, says the St.
Louis Globe-Democrat.

There was once a confectionery establishment in which customers paid 25 cents and were then given permission to help themselves from open trays to all the candy they could eat, but not to carry any away.
It was found to be profitable because most customers discovered their appetite cloyed before having exhausted the 25 cents' worth.

Having opened the door, where may we look for the "haberdashe-teria" and the "bookteria?" However, the bookstore has nearly reached that stage already where familiar browsers take and restore books on the shelves, and finally carry their selections to a waiting clerk; while the bargain counter in the department store is universally the scene of heaven help you if you don't help yourself.

WHEAT BEARD PIERCES CHEEK

It Pretty Thoroughly Explores Man's Anatomy, Causing Severe Pain
for Months.

While preparing a grain exhibit for eastern fairs in August, W. C.
King, exhibit clerk for the state board of immigration, swallowed the beard of a stalk of macaroni wheat.
The beard stuck in his throat. He tried to cough it out.

Recently the beard, 1 1/4 inches long, was removed from his right cheek, the St. Paul Dispatch states.

At the time of the accident Mr.
King noticed no ill effects.

While at the Galesburg (Ill.) fair his chest became sore. Mr. King did not know what was the matter. Neither did a physician he called. But the pain grew less and he forgot about it.

At the Indiana state fair at Indianapolis later his throat became sore. For ten days he was bothered with a swelling. Another physician was called, but he failed to diagnose the case. The soreness of the throat was followed by an abscess in his right ear. Later, Mr. King was troubled with a swelling of the jaw.

Recently a lump formed in his right cheek. It was painful, and a third physician was called. He, like the others, could not understand the symptoms. Then the beard of wheat was forced out of the lump.

SO IT SEEMS.

"Doing much advertising these days?"

"Not a great deal," answered the manufacturer of a household remedy.
"We are spending about five hundred thousand dollars with the newspapers this year, and perhaps five hundred thousand dollars on billboards and other forms of outdoor advertising, but I can't say that we are exerting ourselves. You see, our remedy sells itself."

TERRIBLE RISK.

"This diplomat says he wouldn't even change a comma in a state paper without the authority of his government."

"One can't be too careful in such matters."

"I suppose not."

"It would be a dreadful thing for two nations to go to war over a misplaced comma."

PATIENCE.

"You are not working in the same place," said the butler.

"No," replied the cook. "I've been obliged to change families several times and I'm going to keep on trying till I find one that suits me."

ONE EXCEPTION.

"You can't eat your cake and have it, too."

"Yes, you could, if your wife
baked it."

WOMAN A BULL MOOSER

Progressives Endorse Female Suffrage Move-- 150 Present at State Meet.

STILL LOYAL TO T. R.

Believe The Colonel Will Get Dual Nomination of Chicago.

Louisville, Ky., April 30.—Progressives of Kentucky still believe that Col. Theodore Roosevelt will be given a joint nomination when the republican and progressive parties meet June 7 at Chicago to hold their national conventions. The belief which was expressed at district meetings a week ago was reiterated last night when the state convention met here in Louisville.

The meeting was attended by about 150 delegates, which was more than the leaders had expected, according to statements they made for publication. The gathering, however, was minus the enthusiasm which usually marks conventions of the major parties.

Brutus J. Clay was made one of the delegates from the state-at-large to the national convention. The others selected were M. J. Holt, Wood Axton, George W. Jolly, Leslie Combs, J. W. Galloway, H. S. Hitchens and Aubrey Atkins. Mrs. Harry R. Whitesides also headed a committee from the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, which secured endorsement of an equal suffrage plank in the national platform, was selected as an alternate to the national convention. Irene Krone, of Paducah, was a delegate to last night's meeting. She is slated for one of the delegations from the First district.

Burton Vance, of Louisville, who has been "sitting up" with the party since the days of 1912, was selected as national committeeman to succeed Leslie Combs.

Moore-Fritz.

At an informal luncheon given for that purpose Friday afternoon at her home Miss Evelyn Smith announced the approaching marriage of Miss Ruth Fritz to Mr. H. Coleman Moore, of New York City. The house was beautifully decorated with pink roses and sweet peas, the color scheme of pink and white prevailing throughout the entire decorations. The place cards were dainty little Cupids sitting upon wedding rings and the announcement was made in the very unique way of an original poem containing the hidden names of the couple.

A delightful three course luncheon was served, at the close of which each guest drew as favors little Cupid statues. Those present were: Misses Ruth Fritz, Bertha Cayce, Elizabeth Golladay, Ruth Oldham, Rebecca Gaither, Mattie Crenshaw, Lena Clark, Grace Sallee, Florence Bush, Adelia Williamson, Mary Hayes, Evelyn Smith and Mesdames Ira D. Smith and Thomas L. Smith.

Gift for the Invalid.

The china painter will be interested in a very useful cereal set designed for an invalid and fitting compactly and safely together into one. On the bottom is a gracefully shaped, shallow bowl with a handle at each side and a cover to keep the contents hot. The cream pitcher fits into a circular ridge at the top of this cover, and the little sugar dish fits very closely into the top of the cream pitcher. The set thus takes very little space on the tray, in spite of its four stories, and may be made very ornamental by a pretty border.

Common Sense in Road Building.

Common sense applied to road building makes a good road an asset instead of liability.

Where a county or township builds a road that will not outlast its cost, that county or township is buying trouble and paying cash—for it. It borrows money to buy a liability, creates a debt to buy something that will be a continual expense until it finally becomes a total loss through being worn out. And borrowing money to build a road that will not last under modern traffic condition is unsound finance.

Transactions of that kind are on a par with the lack of financial foresight of the young lawyer who took a flock of ducks as his fee for legal services rendered a farmer in a line-fence fight. The young lawyer overlooked an item which, in road building, is termed maintenance. He could not profitably market his ducks, and found the cost of feeding them more than he had expected, just as the taxpayers of a county or township find that it costs more money than they usually estimate to maintain an impermanent road.

Ducks have an appetite for corn like the insatiability of a tax-eating bad road. When this simple lesson on the need of carefully weighing probable maintenance expense had sunk into the young lawyer's head, he borrowed a hammer from a neighbor and gently tapped the ducks into eternal sleep. That act created a loss, but it saved a greater one in putting a stop to the upkeep, as a road builder would say, of those ducks.

The sooner a bad road is put out of existence, that much sooner will a wholly unnecessary expense be cut off. Not only that, but land values will begin to improve.

Permanent road building costs money, and it is well to look at the cold-cash side of the proposition. True, the beneficial effects upon the social and educational standards of the community are not always susceptible of exact calculation but they are certain to come; and since a permanent road costs money, we must know there is to be a profit from somewhere to offset the cost. Something for nothing has never yet been found. Profits from a permanent road come to the farmer in the reduction of hauling costs. It puts him in a position where he can get to market every day in the year, and where he can haul two loads at one trip instead of having to make two trips to haul one load.

These are a few plain reasons why a good road should be built, rather than continue trying to maintain a bad one.

How to get a good road system is not a difficult problem, if a county or township is willing to be guided by common sense. The first step is to employ a competent highway engineer. He will make a study of traffic conditions, ascertain where the main market roads run, and build accordingly, constructing feeder lines to the main market lines with a type of surfacing material that will be less expensive than that required on the main market lines, and yet will at the same time meet all traffic requirements on the feeder lines. The main lines, if built of concrete, will be permanent and cost least to maintain.

Roads upon which traffic is heaviest start from different sections of the county and township and come together at the main market place. In drainage terms, which every farmer will understand, these main market roads are the main channels running through the county or township. They start, traverse, and end according to the natural laws of trade gravitation, and, as in drainage development, these traffic streams are enlarged and improved economically only as their lines of descent toward the market place are followed. To build outside of these lines for heavy traffic where heavy traffic does not exist is false economy, a waste of time and money.

Using drainage as a further illustration and showing how road building is made a community investment by the application of common sense, no thinking farmer would oppose a permanent road project simply because it does not front his property because he is located away from the main market road, any more than he would install a big tile drain where water merely trickled along at infrequent intervals. The thinking farmer understands that there are main market lines which call for a greater expenditure for permanent construction than is required on the less frequently traveled feeder lines, and he votes for the permanent construction on the main lines, although his property may front on the feeder lines. Nearness to a permanently constructed main gives him profit in reduction of haulage cost, and thereby increases the value of his farm by reason of its increased opportunities to reach the market quickly every day in the year. Every thinking farmer understands this and votes accordingly.

Building a road system in patches is, of course, better than not building at all, provided concrete surface is used, because concrete, properly made and placed, will last, and the entire system can be ultimately completed with all of the various units of concrete. But the better way is to plan a comprehensive system carefully, and then build straight through, taking up one main market line at a time and completing it. To build otherwise is to put traffic out of joint, good here and bad there.

Going back to farm drainage for another illustration, sections of drain tile are not placed at one point and then skipped over to another. The fallacy of that method of completing the job is apparent. So it is in road building. The entire construction should first be carefully planned and then followed to the last foot of roadway.

Viewed from another common sense angle, permanent road construction is in reality the extension of railways by a net work of feeder lines, reaching out like tentacles from every community freight station. These transportation tentacles, of course, cannot be economically built of steel rails because of the different types of vehicles used. Therefore, a smooth, broad surface, is required, and when this surface is made permanent the entire region through which these hard-surfaced roads run is connected up with the local freight stations where the locomotives stop. The farming regions so traversed thus become great outdoor factories with every factory farm unit in the whole located alongside or near its own traffic switch, in quick and easy touch with local and foreign livestock and produce markets.

It is to the extension of our existing railway lines to farming districts, in the form of hard roads from the freight station on, that thinking people are now devoting their attention. The application of common sense to road building means issuing bonds to get money to buy a rural transportation system that will save more than it costs, and building that system with a material that will last. That material is concrete.

Road building is just now taking up the extension of transportation facilities at the point where steel rail construction stopped for economic reasons.

We are all right from the freight station on, but from the freight station to the farm, is where the work must now be done.
